

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of an embodiment of the invention is disclosed in which a spitting recovery level of a fluid-ejection mechanism is determined. A humidity of the fluid-ejection mechanism is then determined, based on at least the spitting 5 recovery level.